

Declaration 1

Shatt Al-Arab University College is a private academic institution recognized by the Iraqi Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research. The College was founded in 1993 according to the Private Universities and Colleges Law legislated by the government. The Law aims at providing university study opportunities, contributing in bringing about both qualitative and quantitative transformations in the scientific, cultural and educational movement in Iraq, cultivating national awareness and responsibility, and conforming to the unity of the people and the nation.

Considering that education is a right guaranteed by the Iraqi Constitution, together with the international conventions and covenants ratified by Iraq; that all Iraqis are equal by law without discrimination due to gender, race, nationality, descent, color, religion, doctrine, belief, opinion, or economic or social position.

And as the College is endeavoring to put into effect the goals of sustainable development SDGs, the 17th, announced by the United Nations for the sake of achieving social justice and peace.

And in observance of what has been stated above, our College offers its educational and academic services to all citizens with no discrimination whatsoever having in mind the unity of people, the nation, and humanity at large.
